

Canada Post Community Mailbox Conversion

Information on community mailbox conversions

Canada Post is converting approximately four million addresses that still receive door-to-door delivery to community mailboxes.

This is part of Canada Post's transformation effort that will strengthen the postal service, allow it to be a better partner for businesses, enable national commerce, and help it meet its dual mandate of delivering for all Canadians without being a recurring burden on taxpayers.

Canada Post will notify residents in the following communities of upcoming changes to their mail delivery, and will keep them informed every step of the way.

Canada Post's Delivery Accommodation Program

This program provides free support to help residential customers with functional limitations access their mail and parcels. It offers accommodations that make mailboxes easier to use, such as sliding trays, Braille features or assigning a more accessible compartment. In some cases, weekly home delivery may be provided on a seasonal, temporary or permanent basis.

For more information or to apply for the Delivery Accommodation Program, visit Canada Post's Delivery Accommodation Program website.
